

CANADIAN SEXUAL AND REPRODUCTIVE HEALTH SURVEY

A new national survey on women's sexual and reproductive health

"Sexual health is fundamental to the overall health and well-being of individuals, couples and families, and to the social and economic development of communities and countries."

— WORLD HEALTH ORGANIZATION

The Canadian Sexual and Reproductive Health Survey collects information from women in Canada aged 18 to 49 to better understand sexual and reproductive health and access to services.

WHY A SURVEY ON SEXUAL AND REPRODUCTIVE HEALTH?

- Currently, there are no national-level data on sexual and reproductive health in Canada.
- Better information will help governments understand challenges and improve the support they provide.
- Statistics Canada developed this survey with input from Canadians, including clinicians, policy makers and researchers, to support policies and programs.

YOU CAN EXPECT QUESTIONS ABOUT:

- Sexual behaviours and birth control
- Sexual communication
- Pregnancy intention
- Access and barriers to health care services for miscarriage, stillbirth, ectopic pregnancy and abortion
- A range of other topics, including gynaecological surgeries and procedures

YOU CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE

Your participation is voluntary. By taking part in this survey, you and other people will provide important information needed to better understand sexual and reproductive health services and guide future research and programs.

YOUR PRIVACY IS IMPORTANT TO US

All information collected by this survey is strictly confidential and is protected by the Statistics Act. We will not release any information that would identify you or any member of your household without your consent. This information cannot be released under any law, including the Access to Information Act.
