Foreign bank loans are usually from a single banking institution in a foreign country. In this case, the distribution of the bank loan would be assigned 100% to one foreign country. However, in the case of a syndicated bank loan, you should indicate the lead bank under "Bank Loan Details" but list all foreign countries and their respective amounts represented under the terms of the syndication under the "Foreign ownership Distribution". For each bank loan, use the country code list provided on page 10 to identify the country where the loan originated.
